

SuZan Alexander

Biography

SuZan Alexander began photographing in college, where she studied Fine Art. Those classes provided a background in black-and-white film photography, as well as special processes such as kallitype.

In the years after graduating college, SuZan's focus became job-centered. In 2004, with encouragement from her husband, in the form of a digital camera, SuZan returned to her love of photography. Since 2004, SuZan has devoted much of her time to studying the technical aspects of digital photography and post-processing. SuZan's choice to focus on quality, fine-art images has been a long journey full of challenges and rewards.

SuZan's goal to incorporate her art and painting background to transform a photographic image into an expressive photographic story result in images that encourage the viewer to consider a new perspective and maybe connect with the image from a nostalgic perspective with an artistic voice.